My language,
My right!

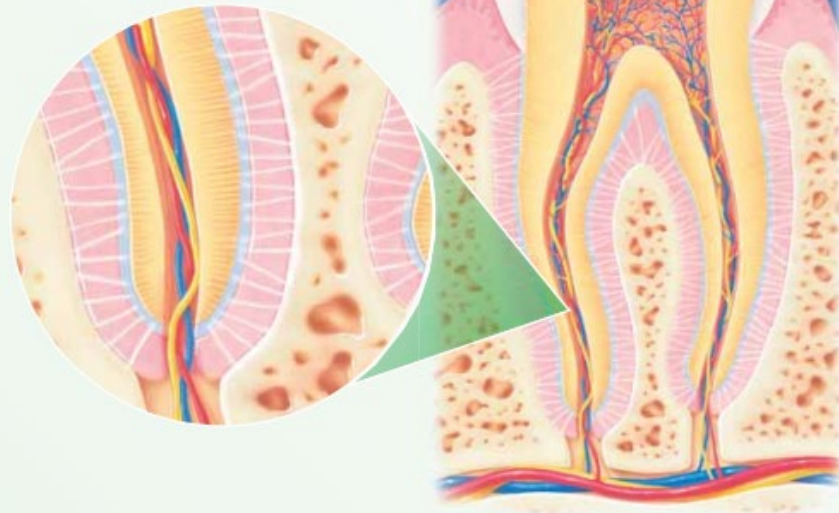

Your language rights

Have you ever:

- ✓ requested services, in person, at the Government of Nunavut, or one of its public agencies, without being informed that you could receive this service in the official language of your choice?
- ...sought information on the Government of Nunavut website and saw that the information was not available in the official language of your choice?
- ...sought a government office in Nunavut without having anyone offer to transfer the service to someone who can speak the official language of your choice?
- ...sought information on a government website or a poster from a government agency where there is not all official languages available?

Nunavut official languages are Inuktitut, Inuit language (Inuktitut) and French. You have the right to communicate with government services in the official language of your choice from the Government of Nunavut and public agencies, including the Legislative Assembly, the Department of Justice and Public Accounts.
